SENATE PASSES CURRENCY BILL

VOTE FINALLY TAKEN ON THE ALDRICH MEASURE.

IS PASSED BY WIDE MARGIN.

BAILEY SUBSTITUTE DEFEATED IN SHORT ORDER.

AMENDMENTS ARE NUMEROUS

LaFollette Succeeds in Incorporating Certain of His Ideas in Measure. Senators Allison and Johnson Also Have Suggestions Accepted.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Aldrich currency bill was passed by the Senate today by a vote of 43 to 16—in the main a party vote. Previous to the taking of the vote on the Aldrich bill, a vote was taken on the Bailey substitute, authorizing the government instead of the national banks to issue the emergency currency for which the bill provides. The vote on the substitute stood 42 to 13 and this vote was entirely partisan, even Senator LaFollette casting his vote with the Republicans. The bill has been before the Senate since January 9. The vote was not reached until after 6 p. m. and the galleries were practically empty.

An interesting feature of the passing of the bill was a reiteration by Mr. Aldrich of his promise to bring in a bill for an investigation of the entire banking system of the country with a view to instituting reforms.

$500,000,000 Emergency Currency.

As passed, the bill provides for not more than $500,000,000 of emergency currency to be issued to national banks upon the deposit by them of state, county and municipal bonds to be approved by the secretary of the treasury.

The currency is to be issued with a view to securing an equitable distribution of the currency over the United States and in accordance with the unimpaired capital and surplus of banks in each state. Banks are to pay for this emergency circulation one-half of 1 per cent a month, during the first four months it is circulated, and afterward three-fourth of 1 per cent a month.

The bill provides that national banks shall pay not less than 1 per cent on government funds deposited with them.

As amended today, the bill carries an important change in banking laws relating to bank reserves. This amendment provides that of the 15 per cent reserve required to be kept by banks not in reserve cities, four-fifths of this is to be kept in the vaults of the banks and of that amount one-third can be in the form of securities of the kind required.

By another amendment, agreed to today, the period during which but 5 per cent interest is to be charged was reduced from six to four months, after which three-quarters of 1 per cent is to be charged until redeemed.

LaFollette Amendment Passed.

At the instance of Mr. LaFollette, an amendment was adopted prohibiting any national bank from investing its funds in stock or other securities of a corporation, the officers or directors of which are officers or directors of the bank, and providing a penalty of imprisonment of from one to five years. In accepting this amendment Mr. Aldrich stated that he had not time to consider the amendment fully, but was in sympathy with its general purpose. He said it could be perfected in conference.

The proposition to insert a provision for a government guarantee of deposits in national banks was the subject of extended debate and was defeated on a vote of 11 to 8, most of the Demo-

TRY HARD TO SAVE GILLETTE

Parents of Condemned Man Will Ask Governor Hughes to Grant Respite.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 27.—Evidence to show that Grace Brown, whom Chester Gillette is charged with drowning in order that he might marry a couple in whom he was interested in Big Moose lake, Adirondacks, was pregnant when he took her there, is expected to be presented to Governor Hughes tomorrow in an effort to have the governor grant a respite for Chester Gillette, convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be executed in Auburn prison next week, for the murder of the girl. Gillette's father, mother and sister will go here tomorrow morning and will be accompanied by counsel for the condemned man. It is alleged new evidence has been presented to a court of appeals judge in Utica.

Three new witnesses were found in Tupper Lake and a team, some of whom will be witnesses at Gillette's trial, left there for Albany this afternoon. It is to give testimony before Governor Hughes in the executive chamber, in support of the application for the granting of a respite. It was learned that counsel for the Gillette family will endeavor to show that Grace Brown met her death accidentally; that while in the boat with Gillette she was seized with an epileptic fit and drowned; that the discolorations on her face when the body was found, was due to the body coming into contact with the boat in floating.

MONUMENT FOR GENERAL LEE

Oklahoma Presents Resolution in House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—A resolution for the erection in this city for a monument to the memory of Gen. Robert E. Lee was introduced today by Representative Ferris, Oklahoma.

The belief is expressed in the resolution that the erection of a statue in commemoration of General Lee will contribute in a marked degree toward blotting forever from the minds and thoughts of the citizens of the nation the late unfortunate conflict.

The sum of $100,000 is appropriated.

REQUEST FOR TROOPS

STRIKE SITUATION AT TREADWELL SERIOUS.

Foreign Miners Threaten to Destroy Property With Dynamite in Alaska Camp—Aid Furnished.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Eight hundred striking miners, most of them foreigners, possessed of 10 cases of dynamite and a desire to destroy property and perhaps life, at the Treadwell mines in Alaska, was the situation presented to Secretary Taft yesterday by telegraph from the Acting Governor of that territory, who requested the aid of federal troops. The secretary acceded to the request without delay and announced his action at the conclusion of the cabinet session today.

The order which went forward, directed General Brush, commanding the department of the Columbia, at Vancouver barracks, to place a sufficient force at the disposal of the United States marshal at Treadwell, to assist him in the enforcement of law, and to enforce and execute the order of the United States courts. General Brush responded that he had dispatched one company of infantry to Treadwell. The distance is about 100 miles and the troops should reach their destination in a day or two.

In his telegram requesting troops, the acting governor says:

"Miners at Treadwell, 800 strong, on a strike; majority foreigners not speaking or understanding English language.

"Superintendent Quinzy reports 10 cases dynamite missing. Fears destruction of Treadwell property and thinks civil authorities will be unable to afford protection. United States marshal deputies who have personally investigated conditions report that the situation is very grave and serious and have ample proof to that effect. Should the strikers make an attack, marshal's forces would be inadequate to defend. The authorities at Treadwell and Douglas are making an urgent appeal for protection. I recommend that available troops be dispatched immediately from Ft. Seward to Treadwell to protect property and prevent the loss of life. I believe if this is done, threatened trouble will be avoided."

SEATTLE, Wash., March 27.—No disquieting developments from the Treadwell striking situation were received here today. General Brush of the Vancouver barracks, ordered Colonel Green with an infantry battery and gatling guns to proceed to Douglas island from Fort W. H. Seward, at once, on the request of United States Marshal J. M. Shoup, who sailed from Seattle on the Dolphin for Juneau last night.

SECOND KING GEORGE III?

Actions of Roosevelt in Interview With Representative Dickema Discussed in House.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The question of whether or not President Roosevelt is an intolerant man after the fashion of King George III arose in the House today.

The discussion was founded on a local newspaper story covering what purports to be the details of an interview yesterday between the President and Representative Dickema of Michigan in which the President was pictured as glumping his desk and offering Mr. Dickema for having joined in the report of the subcommittee on the judiciary committee censuring Judge Wilkin of the United States court in Cuba.

Upon the statement of Representative Williams of Mississippi, the minority leader, that he proposed to offer a resolution to ascertain if the President had committed an impeachable offense, Mr. Tawney of Minnesota, chairman of the committee on appropriations, moved to lay the resolution on the table. Mr. Tawney also moved the President from the suggestion of intolerance made by Mr. Williams and said that the President in the very conduct which took place had displayed the greatest liberality in receiving the explanation of the circumstances leading up to the filing of the report. He denied that the President thumped his desk, but admitted that he gesticulated a good deal.

Following this incident—the House engaged in a desultory debate on the agricultural appropriation bill, which, however, did not lose materially amended when it was laid aside.

At 5 p. m. the House adjourned.

JUNE WEATHER IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 27.—With a temperature of 81 degrees in the office the weather bureau and several degrees warmer on the pavement, New York experienced real June weather today. A warm southwest wind offered little relief to businessmen and shoppers, who were wearing heavy winter clothing. It was the warmest March day ever recorded at the local weather bureau by 8 degrees. The previous high record of 65 degrees for any March day was established March 28, 1907.

NEGRO SHOT BY CONGRESSMAN

HEFLIN OF ALABAMA FIGURES IN STREET CAR FIGHT.

IS RELEASED ON $5,000 BAIL

BULLET FRACTURES COLORED MAN'S SKULL.

DRINK IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Southerner, on Way to Deliver Temperance Lecture, Remonstrates With Black for Drinking in Public—Bystander Gets Bullet in Leg.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—In a desperate affray on a Pennsylvania avenue car tonight, a negro and a white man were shot by Congressman Thomas J. Heflin of Alabama. Thomas Lumby, the negro, was shot in the head and is in a critical condition, and Thomas McCreary, a New York horse trainer, is suffering from a wound in the leg. The shooting of McCreary was accidental. Mr. Heflin was arrested and taken to the Sixth police precinct, where a charge of assault with intent to kill was placed against him. Later he was released on $5,000 bail.

The shooting occurred shortly after 7 o'clock as the car reached the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Sixth street, bound for Capitol hill. Congressman Heflin, accompanied by Congressman Edwin D. Crumpe of South Carolina, had boarded the traction car at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue, Mr. Heflin being on his way to deliver a temperance lecture at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church at Fourth and A streets.

Remonstrated With Negro.

Upon boarding the car he observed two negro passengers, one of whom was Thomas Lumby, and who was in the act of taking a drink from a bottle of whisky. There were a number of other passengers, including several ladies. Mr. Heflin says he remonstrated with the negro and asked him to stop drinking, saying:

"Don't take that drink; there are ladies here, and it is not right. It is against the law for you to do this thing in a street car, and I hope you will put that bottle away."

The other negro, who was sober, attempted to take the bottle away from his friend, but failed. It is said that Lumby became offended at Mr. Heflin's remonstrances and applied vile epithets. As the car reached Sixth and Pennsylvania avenue, Heflin and Lumby were engaged in a desperate struggle. Mr. Heflin, who is a large, powerful man, succeeded in throwing Lumby off the car as it came to a stop. Most of the occupants of the car hastily alighted, including Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCreary. The negro fell to the ground on being pushed off the car. He rose and, it is said, began cursing Mr. Heflin again and made a motion for his hip pocket as if to draw a pistol, whereupon Mr. Heflin fired at him through the window, missing the negro and hitting Thomas McCreary, who was about 20 feet from the car. Mr. Heflin fires twice again, one of the shots taking effect in Lumby's head above the ear. Lumby ran a short distance and fell. An ambulance was called and he was taken to emergency hospital.

Taken to Station in Cab.

The conductor of the car disappeared and a policeman took charge of the car and ran it to Third and Pennsylvania avenue. There Mr. Heflin was escorted by the police to the Capitol hotel and later was taken to the police station in a cab. He was not [illegible] Mr. McCreary's wound is not serious, and after treatment at a hospital he will be returned to his apartments.

At the Emergency hospital it was said Lumby, though badly wounded and unconscious, has a chance to recover. His skull was fractured, but the surgeons were unable to ascertain tonight whether the bullet entered the head.

Mr. Heflin explained at the station his reason for going armed. He is the author of a "jim crow" car law in the District of Columbia, and says that since he introduced the measure he has received many letters of a threatening character and secured permission from the police authorities to go armed.

Mr. Heflin represents the Fifth Alabama district, in which is situated the Tuskegee Institute, of which Booker T. Washington is the head.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Thomas McCreary, accidentally shot in Washington park today, is a well-known trainer on the New York race tracks and has recently looked after the stables of Fred Johnson and others. McCreary was formerly a jockey, and when overweight too heavy to ride began the training of horses. His home is in Eatontown, N. J., though he spends much of his time in this city. He went to Washington a short time ago for the opening of the racing season there. He is about 30 years old.

STUDENTS CAN'T RETURN

President Jordan Takes Final Stand on Recent Suspensions.

PALO ALTO UNIVERSITY, Cal., March 27.—Concerning the suspension of 41 students at the university and the agitation to secure their reinstatement by the student body, President David Starr Jordan today issued a statement upholding the action of the faculty committee and indicating his determination not to counsel a reconsideration of the cases of the suspended students. Dr. Jordan says:

"The present difficulty at Stanford university has had it origin in the effort of the university authorities, trustees and faculty, to rid the institution of the burden and disgrace of student drunkenness. The demonstration of March 12 was an organized expression of revolt, primarily against the committee but actually against the university itself. It was necessary that the offense should be met squarely and definitely. This the committee has done and the university will continue to carry out its policy without reference to opposition or protest.

"It is a matter of regret that so many fine young men have been drawn into the matter by a false idea of college spirit, the undercurrents in the affair not appearing on the surface and the moral issue being obscured by sympathy for their fellows."

WILL TRY INSANITY DODGE

Attorney for I. W. Chang, the Korean Who Killed D. W. Stevens, Hopes to Free Defendant.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—I. W. Chang, the Korean who shot and killed D. W. Stevens, the American adviser to the Korean council of state, was arraigned before Police Judge Conlan today on a charge of murder, but was granted a continuance for preliminary hearing until next Friday morning at 10 o'clock. His attorney intimated that no defense would be offered in the police court, but that when the case reaches a higher tribunal the battle will be fought and an effort made to save the accused Korean on the grounds of insanity.

Ming Woon Chung, the accomplice of the accused man, is still in a critical condition at the Lane hospital, but it is believed he will recover. Mrs. Joseph Porter, a sister of Mr. Stevens, who is expected to reach here from the east on Sunday, has telegraphed asking that the body be held until her arrival. It is expected that the interment will be at Atlantic City.

SHOT DOWN ON STREET

PROMINENT CHINAMAN MURDERED BY COUNTRYMEN.

Tragedy Believed to Have Been Outgrowth of Recent Murder Trials in Boston and Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A street murder, which is believed to have been an outgrowth of the recent trials of Chinamen for murder in Boston and Philadelphia, threw the local Chinese quarters into intense excitement this afternoon. The victim was Ing Mow, who, in the troublous times of two years ago, was known as a lieutenant of Mock Duck, leader of one of the rival tongs, and who since the retirement of Mock, has been looked upon by many Chinamen as the real leader of his faction.

Ever since the successful prosecution of the Chinese murder trials in Boston there have been rumors around Chinatown that some members of the New York colony had inspired the evidence which resulted in the convictions. When the shooting occurred today it became noised about that Mow was one of the men who had been under suspicion in this connection.

Mow, [illegible] walking down Mott street when three Chinamen, coming in the other direction, blocked his way. There was a sharp, short argument, the flash and report of a shot, and as Mow collapsed and fell dead to the sidewalk the three assailants fled. Two of them whirled around into Pell street, while the third darted into a passageway and was swallowed up in the tenement house which covers the block.

In the meantime, Chinatown was in a panic of excitement, and it became necessary to call out a big detail of extra police before anything like order could be restored. A line of police was stretched around the entire district, and a house-to-house search for the murderers was made. As a result of this search Moy Doh Yak and Wan Yon, both of whom live in Mott street, were taken into custody.

JOHNSON READY TO SERVE PARTY

WOULD NOT REFUSE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION.

MAKES AN OPEN DECLARATION

SAYS HE WILL DO NOTHING IN HIS OWN BEHALF

ISN'T SEEKING HIGH OFFICE

"I Desire It Understood," Says Minnesota Governor, "That in No Sense Am I to Be a Candidate for the Purpose of Defeating Mr. Bryan."

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 27.—A letter was written to Governor Johnson by Swan W. Turnblad, publisher of the Swedish-American Post of Minneapolis on March 23, asking him to state his position in regard to nomination for the presidency. Governor Johnson replied:

"Your letter in which you state that you have been subjected to many inquiries as to my plans and status in connection with the Democratic nomination for President, I hereby acknowledge.

"In reply thereto, let me say I do not believe that any American citizen should be an active, open candidate for the nomination to the presidency. Any American would appreciate the high honor which could come to him in being selected as standard bearer of his party.

Happy to Serve Party.

"While I recognize that the press has much to say about me in connection with this high office, I have hitherto avoided any public or private expression regarding my position. Matters have progressed so far, however, that it seems to me that I should at least say, in answer to your interrogation, that if the Democratic party of the nation believed me to be more available than any other man, and felt that by my nomination I could contribute any service to the party and to the nation, I should be happy to be the recipient of the honor which it would thus confer. I am not unmindful, either, of the high honor which has been paid me by the people of Minnesota and if the Democratic party of the state desires to present my name to the next national convention, I am sure I could have no objection, but even if Minnesota were the only state to declare for me at that time I should still feel that the distinction was one of the greatest which could come to me.

"I have done nothing and will do nothing in the way of organization to bring about this end, and shall not be a candidate in the sense of seeking the nomination.

Will Respond to Call.

"It, however, those who have the welfare of the country and the Democratic party at heart, should feel that I am necessary in this year of grace I certainly shall respond to any call which may be made upon me. In this connection, I desire it understood that in no sense am I to be a candidate for the purpose of defeating Mr. Bryan or any other with the only consideration which would induce me to allow the use of my name would be the feeling that I might be necessary to the cause. If the Democratic party should see fit to nominate Mr. Bryan or any one else, the action would meet with my approval and the nominee certainly would have my unqualified support, as I should expect his support if conditions were reversed.

"I have written you fully that you may thoroughly understand the situation. In order that there may be no doubt I would say in answer to your question that if a nomination came to me I certainly should not refuse it.

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN A. JOHNSON."

DYNAMITE FOUND IN COAL

Quantity of Explosive Discovered in Fuel Shipped to Strong Mine.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 27.—Five sticks of dynamite, tied together, were uncovered by two coal heavers today, at the Strong mine, while unloading a car of coal shipped from the C. & E. mines at Broadhead, Colo. Fortunately the explosive, sufficient in quantity to have blown the car and its occupants into tiny fragments, was discovered without being touched off. The Strong management is at a loss to account for the presence of the dynamite.

TORNADO DOES DAMAGE

PASSES THROUGH MICHIGAN, IOWA AND ILLINOIS.

Several Persons Injured; Property Loss Reported Heavy—Snow Storm in Far North.

DETROIT, Mich., March 27.—A tornado near Jackson, in the southern part of the state, late this afternoon, and a blizzard with heavy snow fall in the upper peninsula tonight, are the extremes of a general storm that struck Michigan today. The tornado did much damage to farm property around Blackman and Woodville, northwest and west of Jackson. Barns were razed, windmills destroyed and orchards uprooted, but no loss of life has been reported. At Menominee, in the upper peninsula, a wind velocity of 40 miles an hour is reported, driving the snow into huge drifts. Train and [illegible] service are seriously delayed in upper Michigan.

Near Battle Creek tonight, the southbound Michigan Central passenger train, on the Goshen branch, was wrecked by the overturning of the locomotive four miles south of Battle Creek when the train struck a bed of sand that had been washed over the tracks to a depth of a foot. The coaches remained on the track and the engine crew saved themselves by jumping.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, March 27.—A report from New Boston, Ia., a town about 10 miles west of Fort Madison, on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, states that a tornado struck that place tonight, blowing 12 freight cars from the track, demolishing a church and injuring a number of people.

The storm crossed the Mississippi river and entered Illinois near Fort Madison. The wind plowed through Warren county, Illinois, destroying houses and barns and injuring several persons.

It is estimated that a score of persons in Iowa and Illinois were injured. Property damage will reach many thousands of dollars. A heavy wind and electric storm prevailed all over the southeastern part of Iowa tonight.

OVER A MILLION IS MISSING

Paying Teller and Auditor of Farmers Bank Pittsburg Face Additional Serious Charges.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 27.—Henry Reiger, paying teller, and John Young, auditor of the Farmers Deposit National bank, late today were taken to the office of United States Commissioner W. T. Lindsey for arraignment on additional charges filed against them by Bank Examiner Williams this afternoon. The charges will probably increase the total of the alleged shortages to $1,000,000. The accused waived hearings and the bond of each was fixed at $200,000, in default of which they were returned to jail where they have been confined since their arrest Monday on charges with the embezzlement of $8,000. Two days later another charge was filed, accusing them of conspiracy to defraud the bank. Cashier Harry Silvermaker, Pittsburg representative of Miller, Prince & Co., New York stock exchange brokers, was also named in the conspiracy charge and secured his release under $15,000 bail.

[illegible] H. Given, president of the bank, gave out the following statement:

"At a special meeting of the board of directors, held this morning, the annual account of the defalcation of the paying teller and the auditor, which had been definitely ascertained to be $1,000,000, was ordered to be charged off at once out of the surplus and undivided profits of $2,500,000, leaving the capital at $5,000,000 and the surplus and other undivided profits $1,500,000."

EL PASO BANKS THREATENED

Black Hand Letters Demanding $10,000 Received.

EL PASO, Tex., March 27.—Two local banks have received Black Hand letters, written in both cases in Spanish, demanding $10,000 from each institution and threatening in case of refusal to dynamite the banks. The letters specified places where the money was to be deposited, and gave a time limit, when the banks would be wrecked if the money was not forthcoming.

Extra guards have been placed around the buildings threatened, but no suspicious circumstances have developed.

MEXICAN CITY IS RAZED BY QUAKE

CHILPANCINGO, STATE OF GUERRERO, IS IN RUINS.

FIRE FINISHES DESTRUCTION

CONFLICTING REPORTS RECEIVED AS TO FATALITIES.

MEAGER DETAILS OBTAINABLE

Message Sent to Governor Damian Flores States That no Lives Were Lost—Other Reports Intimate That Death List Will Be Very Large.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 27.—Governor Damian Flores, chief executive of the state of Guerrero, who is at present in this city, had at 9 o'clock this evening just received the first official advices from the town of Chilpancingo, said to have been destroyed by a heavy earthquake, which occurred last night.

The message to the governor says that, although a number of the buildings of the town were leveled to the ground, no lives were lost. The police quarters and the mayor's office were destroyed and the jail badly damaged. Great fissures were made in the streets and open fields. In the neighboring town of Omitepec the jail was destroyed and 30 prisoners made their escape. Troops are guarding the public buildings that are standing in Chilpancingo, but perfect order prevails.

Later reports from Chilpancingo show, however, that the dispatch received by Governor Flores was ultra-conservative. The town was practically destroyed, though no lives were lost. Most of the buildings that were leveled were residences.

Thirty-four Shocks Recorded.

Thirty-four shocks have been recorded during the past 24 hours by the seismograph at the National observatory at Tacubaya. Most of these shocks, however, were imperceptible except to the delicate needle of the instrument.

Mrs. Emma Jeanette Dorville, an American, perished in a panic in the Tivoli opera house in the city of Vera Cruz, which followed the earthquake of last night. News of the panic and the one death which followed reached this city tonight. When the quake was felt the audience rushed for the exits and many persons were severely bruised, but none seriously injured. Mrs. Dorville dropped dead from fright.

In this city a gendarme was killed, 15 persons slightly and one fatally injured by falling beams and walls. All of these belonged to the working class.

Early today El Imparcial, the government organ, received a dispatch from its correspondent in the town of Chilpancingo, saying that the town of Chilapa, 30 miles distant from that place, was totally destroyed by the earthquake, and that fire broke out in the ruins, completing the work of destruction. The people of the town were terrorized and many were praying in the open plaza and in the fields surrounding the town.

Some hours later the same correspondent sent the following dispatch:

"Later returns confirm my first telegram. Chilapa has been shaken to the earth and reduced to ashes. I await the sending [illegible]."

This correspondent is now [illegible] working near the ruins. The Associated Press has already filed [illegible] out the day to confirm the news of the total destruction by earthquake and fire.

Chilapa has a population of [illegible] souls and is the largest town in the state of Guerrero. It is [illegible] by railroad from the capital, but is [illegible] by [illegible] rough mountain trail on horseback.

Reports received in [illegible] politics in the republic show that the quake was felt over a very wide area, but that in no place with the possible exception of Chilpancingo has there been a considerable loss of life or property.

TAFT BACKED BY MACHINE

Editor of New York Press Makes Sensational Statement in a Prolific Address.

UTICA, N. Y., March 27.—Norman Waterman, editor of the New York Press, in an address here tonight charged that federal employes in every section of the country are devoting their energies and time for the nomination of Secretary of War Taft for the presidency. He said in part:

"I was struck with horror as the details are uncovered of a conspiracy between Mr. Taft's managers and the high financiers of Wall Street, whereby his candidacy is underwritten by [illegible] unscrupulous citizens against whom so rigorous a war has been waged for seven years—to land the reactionary legates in the White House.

"Mr. Roosevelt denies that he [illegible] federal machine made [illegible] to force the nomination of [illegible] or any one. But the facts remain, whether it be by his command or against his desire and injunction. The federal machine is [illegible] all the power of the United States government to compel the Republican voters to take the nomination of Mr. Taft."

eratic votes being against the proposed amendment.

Another amendment offered by Mr. LaFollette prohibited loans by national banks to its officers or to any corporation, the majority of whose stock is owned by officers of the bank. It was rejected as was also an amendment offered by Mr. Nelson of Minnesota, providing that no officer or employe of a national bank shall be a member of a stock exchange or engaged in buying or selling stock or bonds on a commission basis.

Imprisonment Provided.

An amendment by Mr. LaFollette to punish by from one to five years imprisonment any falsification in bank securities was adopted, but was protested against by Senator Knox as already provided for by existing law.

Senator Teller offered, on recommendation of Senator Bailey of Texas, who was absent, the substitute currency bill of the senator from Texas, which, he stated, was in the main similar to the Aldrich bill, with the difference that it provided for government instead of bank paper, and asked for a roll call.

The vote was 13 to 42 against the bill.

Before the vote was taken on the Aldrich bill, Senator Teller explained his reasons for voting for the measure. Following was the vote on passage of the bill:

Yeas—Aldrich, Ankeney, Beveridge, Brandegee, Burkett, Burnham, Burrows, Clark, Colton, Curtis, Dejew, Dick, Dillingham, Dixon, Dolliver, Dupont, Elkins, Flint, Frye, Gallinger, Gamble, Guggenheim, Hopkins, Johnston (Dem.), Kean, Knox, Lodge, Long, McCumber, Nelson, Owen (Dem.), Perkins, Piles, Richardson, Smith of Michigan, Smoot, Stephenson, Sutherland, Teller (Dem.), Warner, Warren and Wetmore—42.

Nays—Bankhead, Borah (Rep.), Brown (Rep.), Culberson, Frazier, Gary, Gore, Heyburn (Rep.), LaFollette (Rep.), McCreary, McEnery, McLaurin, Overman, Paynter and Taylor—16.

Following is the text of the important amendments to the bill which were adopted:

Retention of Reserves.

By Senator Johnston of Alabama: That after January 1, 1909 national banking associations located outside of reserve or central reserve cities, which are now required by law to keep a reserve equal to 15 per cent of their deposit liabilities, shall hereafter hold in their own vaults four-fifths of their reserves, either in lawful money as national banks required by law or in the securities enumerated in section 2 of this act, which shall have been approved by the secretary of the treasury; provided, however, that not more than one-third of the reserves required to be kept in the vaults of such associations shall be held in such securities.

By Senator Allison: Provided, that the deposits under this section of retired notes secured by the deposit of bonds other than bonds of the United States shall not be covered into the treasury as required by section 6 of an act entitled "An act directing the purchase of silver bullion," etc., approved July 14, 1890, but shall be retained in the treasury for the purpose of redeeming the notes of the bank making such deposit.

By Senator LaFollette: No national banking association shall invest any part of its funds or deposits in the stocks or other securities of any corporation or association, any of the officers or directors of which are officers or directors of such banking association. Any officer or director of any national banking association who violates or consents to the violation of the foregoing provision shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof in any circuit or district court of the United States, be imprisoned not less than one year and not more than five years.

Punishment Severe.

By Senator LaFollette: It shall be the duty of the comptroller of the currency to cause such reports of notes in circulation to be verified by examination of the bank's records, and any officer of any banking association falsely reporting the amount of its notes in circulation shall, upon conviction thereof in any circuit or district court of the United States, be punished by a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000, or by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Republican leaders in the House were very reticent today about predicting the course of the Aldrich bill in that branch of Congress. Speaker Cannon refrained from making comment, and some of the chiefs of the majority were equally silent.

Inquiry on the Democratic side today showed a general understanding that the minority will hold pretty fast to its agreement to support the currency bill introduced by its leader, John Sharp Williams. This bill was reported favorably to the House by the Democratic members of the banking and currency committee as a substitute for the Fowler bill.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

DOG UPSETS DIGNITY OF COURT

From the New York World.

Judge Gittens and a jury at Hempstead, L. I., had on trial yesterday the complaint of Lois Greer against Charles Golden, whom she accused of cruelty to animals. Miss Greer is the owner of a dog named Trixie, and she alleged that, as a result of Golden's unerring aim, Trixie has been logging a team of lead around for several months.

"Is the dog in court?" asked the judge.

"The little dear is outside," said Miss Greer. "Here Trix!"

There was a racket in the corridor that sounded like an elephant walking on a shingle roof, and presently in trotted the cause of the trouble. He is a cross between a St. Bernard and a cow. With his jaws wide open and his tongue draped in front of him, he rushed straight toward the jury box and the jurors mounted each other's shoulders with an agility that would have shamed professional acrobats.

"Take that animal out and chain him up, madam," demanded Judge Gittens, trying to maintain his dignity and balance while standing on a swivel chair.

For publication the jury said Golden was not guilty. Privately, they declared he was entitled to a medal.

ROOSEVELT A "DREAM FAKER"

He Never Shot a Deer or Killed a Spaniard.

From the New York World.

President Roosevelt is a dual genius of the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde sort, a "dream faker"—says Colonel Alexander S. Bacon, of New York, in a letter of sympathy to the Rev. William J. Long, of Stamford, Conn., the naturalist, whom Mr. Roosevelt denounced as a "nature faker."

"You take the President too seriously," says Colonel Bacon, in his letter; "he is not half as black as he paints himself. 'Nature faker,' 'mollycuddle' and 'liar' are merely the phrases of a barker alluring the public into an illusive sideshow. They are not serious. If you would study press agents more, you would understand freaks better.

"You misunderstand our President. Words with him merely portray dreams, not facts. He belongs to the purely idealistic, not the realistic, school of writers. Only dreamers can appreciate dreamers. If you but knew the President intimately, Mr. Long, you would not condemn him. He is not so bloodthirsty as he seems.

"Above all, the President does abhor a 'soldier faker,' but this abhorrence goes no farther than words. A barking dog never bites. The President barks at the wicked trusts, but you will notice that none of them dies of hydrophobia. The 'big stick' is wielded fiercely until the campaign contributions are duly vouched for, then it rests peacefully in the simple life.

"Roosevelt and Napoleon were both geniuses; both were the greatest men that ever lived; they admit it; each edited bulletins of his achievements, and Napoleon differed from his modern prototypes only in the fact that he actually fought battles, killed people and entailed misery on the world, while Mr. Roosevelt is a harmless soldier in that he kills and wades in the gore of dream-soldiers only."

Colonel Bacon quotes from his "Woolly Horse" to show that, as he claims, Colonel Roosevelt did not see much less kill, a Spaniard, at the battle of San Juan, on July 1, 1898, and was never within bullet shot of the enemy.

"Our great President," writes Colonel Bacon, "is a dual genius—a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Mr. Hyde is a savage hunter, delighting in the smell of blood, depopulating the great west. Dr. Jekyll is a tenderfoot with a silver-plated rifle and an outlandish outfit, who can't hit the side of a barn; the laughingstock of everybody. Dr. Jekyll is religious; Mr. Hyde swears like a trooper. Mr. Hyde is 'tough,' goes to prizefights, learns boxing from a professional with a large vocabulary; Dr. Jekyll goes to church. Mr. Hyde writes histories of rare literary merit; Dr. Jekyll writes fiction that should fall into the waste basket.

"Dr. Jekyll is a reformer, a free trader, a civil service enthusiast, a trustbuster; Mr. Hyde is a 'standpatter,' violates his own civil service rules and collects giant campaign funds from the wicked trusts. Mr. Hyde is a swashbuckler, wading through blood, depopulating the earth; Dr. Jekyll deeries race suicide, prefers the simple life and charges frantically up Kettle hill, capturing two old kettles while the cables are hot transmitting the interpretation of dreams.

SNEEZE UPSETS A SCHOOL

Sounded Like Man's and Police Were Called to Find Him

From the New York Times.

One police sergeant, four patrolmen and one night watchman had an exciting time early yesterday morning at the Benjamin Deane school for girls, 144 Riverside Drive, trying to find a big bass sneeze, presumably with a burglar attached. At last reports neither had been found.

"Kerchoo-o-o-o-o!!"

It has a thunderous, deep bass sneeze which reverberated through the halls of the big graystone house at exactly 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Ordinarily a sneeze means only that someone has been sitting in a draft, that a cold in the head is on the way, or that the grip is getting in its work. In a girls' school which houses 75 young women and not a man in calling distance except the little colored hall boy, warranted always to sneeze in high C, a big bass sneeze is portentous.

It awakened Mrs. Van Scoll, the house-mother, who out of school hours is responsible for the girls. She opened her door and listened. There was a footstep.

"Who's there?" she called.

"Um-m-m," floated through the door. The house-mother lost no time in getting the West One Hundredth Street Police station on the telephone.

"Madam," said the sergeant, "you will have to speak louder. I can't hear you."

"I can't," came the answer in a sibilant whisper. "This is the Benjamin Deane school. There are burglars in the house. I have just heard one sneeze, and you must send policemen at once."

Sergeant Williams, Curran and Patrolman Charles Buettner started for the school on the double quick. On the way they were joined by other patrolmen and the policemen entered and ran to the upper floors. The night watchman for the street went along and the doorboy brought up the rear.

The men stoped for a moment and listened as the sleeping floor was reached. There was only something that sounded like suppressed giggling, the noise of pattering young feet in adjoining rooms, and a cry in excited tones:

"Do you suppose he is under my bed?"

"Officers," said the house-mother, "the man must be found."

But he wasn't. He was not under any of the beds, he was not in the closets, the pantry, the cellar, or on the roof. The outside men did not discover anyone trying to brave the icy wind of Riverside Drive.

The blotter at the police station recorded that the five men examined 144 Riverside Drive early Tuesday morning and found nothing. In the meantime the music teacher of the school is trying to determine if any of the girls with a contralto voice could possibly give a deep bass sneeze in her sleep.

CHOKED TO DEATH BY BREAD

From the New York Press.

So many amazing mishaps had Jacob Seschy, a painter, 492 Water street, suffered when working at his trade, that when last night he died suddenly his wife feared death was due to an accident which had occurred before he came home. The husband had finished eating his dinner when he fell to the floor. The wife was not in the room at the time and he was dead when she found him.

Mrs. Seschy asked Coroner Harburger to investigate the death of her husband. She told the coroner he had fallen from great heights a dozen times, but always had escaped injury. A ladder also had fallen from seven stories on him, but it did nothing more than crush his hat. The wife said she felt certain her husband had been hurt when working, and that he had been permitted to go home by his employer to avoid liability for the working death.

The coroner assigned Dr. O'Hanlon to investigate the case, and O'Hanlon performed an autopsy on Seschy's body. He found that the man who had escaped injury so many times when painting houses had died as a result of a piece of bread lodging in his throat.

A. A. U. FIGHT BECOMES ACUTE

Association Threatens to Disqualify All Athletes Competing With Boulder Teams.

DENVER, March 27.—The fight between the University of Colorado and the Amateur Athletic union has reached a stage where it seems likely to involve all the high schools and colleges in the state. Following the suspension of the university because of nonpayment of dues, the officers of the Rocky Mountain association have decreed that the members of any high school or college team competing against the Boulder team in track athletics will be suspended from the A. A. U. or else declared professionals.

This means that the various teams must either cancel meets with Boulder, or else run the risk of being declared ineligible for further competition. Under A. A. U. rules, the suspension can be carried to such a point that should East Denver High school compete against the University in Colorado and then enter a state interscholastic meet, all the athletes competing against East Denver might be disqualified.

The A. A. U. has no jurisdiction over baseball and football.

HOPPE IS WORLD'S CHAMPION

Defeats Sutton for Honors at 18.2 Billiards by Score of 500 to 272.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Willie Hoppe of this city won the world's championship at 18.2 billiards by defeating George Sutton of Chicago by a score of 500 to 272, tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The winner played cleverly, at times being brilliant at open table work, while Sutton failed to get the ivories into position for his favorite balkline nurse.

Hoppe ran his score up to 466 in his twenty-third inning, but played carelessly, taking a chance on a three-cushion carom, which he missed. Sutton drew a cipher, and then Hoppe ran out with an unfinished five.

DEMAREST IS CHAMPION

Establishes New Record in Amateur 14.2 Balkline Billiards.

CHICAGO, March 27.—Calvin Demarest of Chicago tonight won the national amateur 14.2 balkline billiard championship, and at the same time established a new record for the high run, making 36 in his ten innings. His opponent was H. A. Wright of San Francisco, who played badly, and was only able to collect 22 in his 12 trials. Demarest's average was 30 10-13 and Wright's, 1 10-12.

C. F. Conklin of Chicago took second place in the tournament and H. A. Wright third. Tonight's game was the final one in the triple tie which Demarest, Wright and Conklin were compelled to play off after the close of the national amateur tournament last Monday night, each of the three players having won four games and lost one. Demarest not only won the championship for the second time, but received the prizes for the high run—302—which is the world's record for the 14.2 style, and the high grand average of the tournament—21 19-28. The champion was in splendid form tonight, while Wright made the poorest showing of the tournament.

President figures in many roles, many more than the average man.

The latest edition contains 16,395 names, almost double the number in the original volume issued 10 years ago. In short, there is only one "who" in every 5,000 persons in the United States.

This State in the Lead

Colorado is represented by 182 names, almost exactly 1 per cent of those contained in the book, while in population the state has less than 1 per cent of the population of the country. Therefore, this state is ahead of the remainder of the United States in its proportion of "whos."

In the introduction to the volume the publishers say that 86.61 per cent of the names are those of native-born citizens, and comment as follows:

"The comparison of figures indicates clearly that the trend of activity is decidely westward; that is, the majority of the eastern states whose roster of natives is large, have a smaller number of residents, and most of the western states whose natives are few have a larger number of residents.

"This is strikingly illustrated by the state of Colorado, which has only two native sons in the list, against 182 residents."

FESTIVAL BIG SUCCESS

BLAUVELT'S BRILLIANT WORK LEADING FEATURE.

Orchestra Delights Music Lovers Chorus Out of Place in Such Company.

Crowded into two concerts yesterday was enough good music to have furnished several concerts. It was a real musical festival, and one that those who heard will not soon forget. The Chicago Symphony orchestra is generally pleasing, and furnished genuine delight to the hearers. Added to this was Madame Lillian Blauvelt, the prima donna, who was to have given a separate concert Thursday night. Then there was Albert Rosenthal, a young cellist of repute; Jan van Oordt, concertmeister and solo violinist, and Franz Wagner, cellist, with the orchestra. Such fine things were included in the one program last night.

The great surprise of the day was the work of Madame Blauvelt, lyric soprano. Miss Blauvelt has been absent from the concert and operatic stage for two or three years, and during that time has been out of the public eye. However, the first song she sang, one of Schubert's exquisite gems, with piano and cello accompaniment, showed the artist that she always is. Her voice is beautiful, clear as crystal and rich. It has no rugged edges that are noticeable in some concert voices. Her enunciation is a delight, and every word is plainly distinguishable. This was especially so in her English song. Her Schubert song, "Der Hirt auf dem Felsen," brought out her voice splendidly. In the encore, "The Wind That Blows the Barley," by Kate Vannah, an English song, she was exquisite. The Handel number, an aria from "Rodelinda," gave Blauvelt a fine opportunity to display her versatility in florid music. Her runs and trills were executed with a nicety with clean-cut tones that invited the great applause she deserved. "Cherry Ripe," by Horn, an old English song, was the next number. Every word was distinguishable, and her tones were round, smooth and rich. "Pourquoi," a French composition by Delibes, followed. She ended her program with Strauss' great number, "Voce de Primavera." This work is most difficult technically and artistically, and it takes an artist to sing it correctly and at the same time phrase it properly. This Blauvelt did, and her work in this number was as fine as anything that has been heard in this city for a long time. She was forced to give two encores which brought out the same clear tones, clean enunciation and rich coloring.

Mme. Blauvelt was assisted by Rosenthal, cellist, and Edith Kellogg, pianist. The latter did not have an opportunity to show what she could do beyond her accompanying, which was done fairly well. Rosenthal played Popper's "Hungarian Rhapsodie." He is still a young artist and has yet to gain maturity, but his work last night was generally pleasing. His technic is excellent, and what he lacked in fire and mellowness will probably come to him as he grows in his art.

The afternoon concert with two exceptions was entirely orchestral. It opened with the "Coronation March" by Svendsen, a rather meaningless work, which did not show the orchestra in its true light. The "Rustic Wedding" symphony by Goldmark followed. This symphony, of which the Allegretto (Bridal Song) and the Andante (In the Garden) where played is not one of the greatest symphonies ever written, but is most melodious and pleasing. The "Bridal Song" is full of entrancing melody, which came out melodiously on the wind part of the orchestra.

Brahms' ever popular Hungarian dances followed. The orchestra gave fire and finish to these two numbers, and wrought the climax in splendid shape. The fiery Hungarian temper flashed through the dances, and won an encore, "Minuet of the Flies," by Czibulka. This is a fanciful thing mostly for the first violins, and light airy movement was well brought out. Two movements from the "Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz, followed. The "Dance of Sylphs" was especially pleasing, while the "March Hongroise" was full of vim. "The Song of the Rhine Daughters," by Wagner was disappointing on account of the poor work on the part of one of the French horns which carries the motif. Otherwise the number was rich in coloring, and the wood and brasses came out brilliantly.

The afternoon program closed with Tschaikowsky's overture, "1812," with its Marseillaise motif, coming out strong in the horns. It was not the best thing the orchestra did, but nevertheless it made an excellent wind-up to the afternoon program.

The orchestra contributed four numbers at night. The best thing it did was the "Tannhauser" overture, which was played with a true insight into the composer's idea of the work. The wind instruments brought out the Pilgrims motif with splendid and yet did not drag it, as is the great temptation. The beautiful Venusberg music, allotted to the violins, came out excellently. Altogether this overture has never been played better in this city. The Lalo concerto followed as an encore. The wind instruments came out again in this, and the trombones made an especially fine effect. The advisability of putting on this number might be questioned when there are so many other things that we would like to have heard which have never been put on here. Wagner's Entrance of the Gods in Walhalla followed. The sublimity of this great work was fully appreciated and the thrilling chords were brought out excellently. Rubinstein's melody in F followed, and the orchestra gave a good interpretation of this popular number.

The one disappointment of the day was the choral work. That such a thing was permitted is to be regretted. Local talent affairs are all right in their place, but they certainly are not desirable when mixed up with high-class musical entertainment by artists of rank. Besides this, the work of the chorus was not such as to give pleasure. There were 41 women, about two-thirds of whom were sopranos and the rest altos. Then there were eight tenors and 12 bassos. The attacks of the chorus were poor, and at times they did not sing together. The work of the orchestra was quite creditable, and made the work half way interesting. The solos, with the exception of the tenor, were good.

Many of the numerous halftones used are scenes in and around Colorado Springs, while two pages of reading matter are devoted to describing this city and Manitou, giving detailed information regarding the scenic attractions, hotels, rates, and delights of the region. The edition of the folders is very large, and will be widely circulated in all parts of the country.

BOY TORTURED BY AWFUL HUMOR

Almost Covered with Eczema—No Night's Rest for Nearly a Year—Feared Lifelong Disfigurement—All Treatments Failed and Limit of Endurance Seemed Near.

PERFECT RECOVERY IS DUE TO CUTICURA

"With the exception of his hands and feet, my son Clyde (thirteen years old) was almost completely covered with eczema. Physicians treated him for nearly a year without helping him any. While they were very kind and did all in their power, yet nothing seemed to relieve him. And I had tried many remedies sent to me by kind friends but they all failed. His head, face, and neck were covered with large scabs which he would rub until they fell off. Then blood and matter would run out and that would be worse. Many a time he looked as if his ears would drop off. Friends coming to see him said that if he got well he would be disfigured for life.

"When it seemed as if he could possibly stand it no longer, I decided to try Cuticura. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. I used them in the evening and that was the first night for nearly a year that he slept. This may sound exaggerated to you, but in the morning the e was a great change for the better. In about six weeks you could not have told that he had ever had anything wrong with him. I treated him twice a day for six months and at present he has a fine complexion and not a scar on his body. This story may seem overdrawn, but neither words nor pen can describe Clyde's suffering and how he looked." Our leading physician, Dr. , recommends the Cuticura Remedies for eczema. Mrs. Algy Cockburn, Shiloh, O., June 11, 1902.

Frequent shampoos with Cuticura Soap and weekly dressings with Cuticura stop falling hair, remove crusts, scales, and dandruff, destroy hair parasites, soothe irritated, itching surfaces, stimulate the hair follicles, supply the roots with nourishment, loosen the scalp skin, and make the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp, when all other remedies fail.

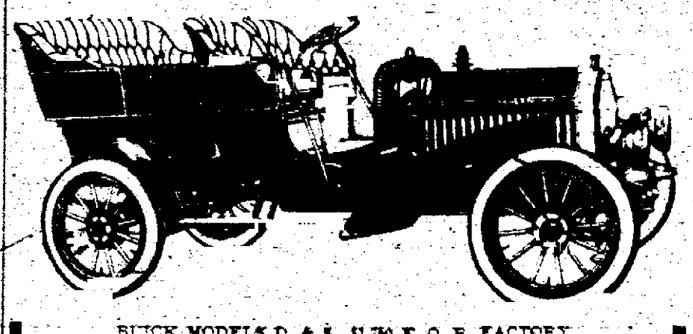
A Big Cut in Price



BUICK MODELS D. & S., $1,750 F. O. B. FACTORY.

Mr. A. R. Smith, Colorado Springs, Colo. Flint, Mich., 3-14-'03.

Dear Sir—It has become apparent to us that a very large business can be secured on a medium-sized high-grade four-cylinder car, providing the price is right. The right price can be made if the volume of business can be obtained. With this in view, we have decided to make the catalog price of Models D & S, $1,750 F. O. B. factory.

These cars are thoroughly tried out models and are being made under conditions which insure good workmanship and first-class design. Buyers who want a high-grade four-cylinder runabout or a five-passenger touring car that can be depended upon, at a moderate price, should investigate these models. A Model D car can be seen at the Miller Garage, 122 North Cascade avenue, and a demonstration arranged for.

I have two-model F, two-cylinder Buick five-passenger touring cars that have been used for demonstrating, at a low price.

Reliable cars for rent at reasonable rates.

WORKING FOR BETTER ROADS.

NEVER before has there been as much public interest in the subject of good roads in this country as at present. The "good roads movement" is so widespread that its influence is felt in every state, and everywhere men are intelligently working toward a solution of the two problems involved. The first of these is how best to improve the roads, and the other is how to raise the money to pay for the work. The first problem is technical and concerns the engineers and road experts more than it does the general public, but the other concerns everybody. Many plans are suggested and some few of them have been put into effect. Though no comprehensive scheme of road-building has been attempted—that is, a scheme of more than statewide significance, some few states, mostly in the East, have organized road commissions under the direction of trained engineers, and their efforts have resulted in vastly improving the public highways, but as yet nothing has been attempted on the broad national plan followed by many European countries.

Mr. H. If. Gross, Secretary and Treasurer of the Farmers' Good Roads League, with headquarters in Chicago, has sent out a "Suggested Plan of National Aid for Improving the Highways," accompanied by a letter in which he states that his object is to invite general discussion of the plan throughout the country in the hope of bettering it if possible, or, if it should be regarded as satisfactory, to secure its adoption through the necessary legislation by Congress. The plan is as follows:

Let Congress authorize the issue from time to time, as may be needed, of $200,000,000 of 2 per cent 50-year bonds for highway improvement. As these would serve as the basis for national bank issue, they would command a premium.

The annual interest charged on the bond issue would be $4,000,000, which is less than 5 cents per capita per year on the present population of 85,000,000. A 7 cents per capita tax per year would be sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and provide a sinking fund to retire them at maturity.

A condition of the issue should be that each of the several states, in order to receive its pro rata, should raise within five years at least $3.00 for every dollar to be drawn from the national treasury. Failing in this, the money may be used to retire the bonds. The proceeds of the bond issue to be set aside for the several states on the following plan: One-half to be pro rated on the basis of population, and one-half on the basis of highway mileage. Thus the densely populated states would have the advantage in the former distribution, while the more sparsely settled states with larger areas would gain in the latter. An examination will show that this plan is equitable.

The proceeds of the bond issue to be expended upon the main highways used for rural mail delivery, and in no event to exceed in amount 25 per cent of the cost of the improvements. The work to be done under state supervision, according to specifications submitted to and approved by the Director of the Public Roads Office of the United States Department of Agriculture, or some officer charged with the duty. The money to be distributed on the certificate of the proper state officers, setting forth that such improvement has been completed, the cost thereof, and that 75 per cent of the expense has been paid by the state and local authorities.

To show how this financial apportionment would work, Mr. Gross figures out the amounts which certain states would receive:

Colorado, having 1.3 per cent of road mileage, would receive	$1,496,000
Colorado, having .8 per cent of population, would receive	800,000
Total	$2,200,000
Pennsylvania, having 3.1 per cent of road mileage, would receive	$4,600,000
Pennsylvania, having 5.1 per cent of its population, would receive	8,400,000
Total	$13,000,000
New York, having 2.7 per cent of road mileage, would receive	$3,700,000
New York, having 3.1 per cent of population, would receive	5,100,000
Total	$12,800,000

It is claimed for this arrangement that it is equitable because it would insure a fairer distribution of the fund MERITS OF THE PLAN. than would be possible if it were divided solely on the basis of population or on that of road mileage. Mr. Gross produces lengthy arguments to show that no other scheme of road improvement than that of national aid has ever been successfully practiced in any country, and the futility of our present method is shown by the fact that 9/10 per cent of our public highways are still unimproved. According to an official bulletin of the Public Roads Office of the Department of Agriculture the percentage of improved highways in New York is less than 8, and in Pennsylvania only 2, after three centuries of settlement. Even in those thickly populated and progressive Eastern commonwealths the state governments have almost entirely failed to provide good roads, though it must be admitted that they are making better progress now than at any time in the past.

This plan of road improvement can hardly be called paternalistic because the national Government provides only 25 per cent of the necessary funds, the remaining 75 per cent being furnished by the several states. This is a fair division, because the state governments have a far greater interest in the improvement of the highways within their borders than the national Government has. But even if this were not the case the bugaboo of paternalism need not frighten anybody. It was used as an argument a few years ago by those who opposed the plan for Government reclamation of arid lands, the wisdom of which is now universally recognized. There are some things that the Federal Government can do a great deal better than the state governments, and if the farmers of the states to improve their highways counts for anything it is reasonable to assume that this is one of them. However, under the above plan the national Government would be merely a partner in the enterprise.

Whether or not this plan is accepted as the possible solution of the problem, the fact is perfectly clear that road improvement is one of the important national needs. Bad roads inflict a loss of millions of dollars a year on the farming interests, a loss so great that in the opinion of experts a splendid system of public highways would soon pay for itself in the annual saving. The movement for better roads is in line with those other public movements which have for their object the reclamation of waste lands, both arid and swamp; the improvement of the waterways, and the conservation of the forests and other natural resources. It is a little slow in getting started, but now that so much thought is being given to its solution it is certain that results of some value will be attained in the future.

NO DUKEDOM FOR MR. ELKINS.

"ARE we to be spared no humiliation!" cries high society in Rome." Thus begins a Rome dispatch to The New York World, telling of the consternation among the elite of the Italian capital when they heard that "Senator Elkins has spurned a proposition to make him an Italian duke so that the King's cousin, the Duke of the Abruzzi, may not get a wife without rank when he marries Miss Elkins." Rome society was mad all the way through when it learned of the prospective match, for be it understood that Miss Elkins is a woman with no rank in European eyes, not even the faintest claim to the lowest order of titles." It was incomprehensible that a member of the royal house of Savoy, "having the bluest blood coursing in his veins," possessed of an income of $40,000 a year, famous as an explorer, a scientist and a naval officer, should really fall in love with a mere American girl, because with all of these attainments he was eligible to wed the wealthiest and proudest of the European princesses." But finally the Italian aristocracy decided that it was no use to argue against the match if Abruzzi had really made up his mind to marry Miss Elkins, so it found relief in the proposition to make Senator Elkins an Italian duke in order that his daughter might be said to be of noble blood.

But alas! Senator Elkins will have none of their bifalutin titles. He is a plain American citizen, endowed with millions and a Senatorial toga by virtue of his acquisition of West Virginia coal lands in the days when they were to be had cheap, and such he intends to remain. If Italian royalty can not stand the shock of being ranked with such common stock, so much the worse for it.

SENATE SHOULD HAVE ONE DUKE.

But what a pity that the Senator is so stubborn! Think what a fine thing it would be to have one sure-pure Duke in the Senate. It would add variety and picturesqueness to the newspaper reports of Congressional debates. For instance, we might be able to announce on the first page, under a Washington date-line, that "The Senate galleries were crowded today when the junior member from West Virginia, His Grace The Duke of Anthracite, rose to deliver a carefully prepared speech in opposition to the proposal to put coal on the free list, etc." Or, "The proceedings of the Senate were enlivened today by a spirited tilt between His Grace The Duke of Wheeling and Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas. The passage at arms resulted from sneering remarks about the American aristocracy indulged in by Senator Davis in the course of an address in support of his bill to impose a heavy export duty on American heiresses who marry foreign noblemen. His Grace was at first inclined to disdain Senator Davis' aspersions as beneath his dignity, but under the persistent nagging he lost his temper and threw an ink-bottle at the low-born Arkansas statesman, liberally bespattering that gentleman's expansive shirt bosom, etc."

Senator Elkins ought to think twice before depriving the American people of the vast store of amusement it would derive from his exaltation. It is not often that a man gets a chance to contribute so much to the gayety of nations.

SOCIALISM.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Misstatement being the essence of argument against socialism, it was not to be expected that the Rev. Father O. Ryan should deviate from the usual procedure in his address before the Winter Night club on Thursday night.

Not having heard the gentleman, I must confine my reply to the answering of the statements set forth in the press report. He says:

First—"Under socialism, every man, woman and child would have to be a politician."

Socialism, by abolishing classes, would do away with politics. Everyone, however, would take an interest in the conducting of the government. Entrance into politics under present conditions would be beneficial, for the greatest factor in corrupt politics is the ignorance or apathy of the majority.

He says:

Second—"Socialism would destroy the home and obliterate all social and domestic ties."

Those who believe that socialism would destroy home ties must believe that these relations are mercenary. Marriage under socialism could not be entered into for any economic consideration or for a "title." Man is essentially a social animal, and there are other and better reasons for the marriage relation than the economic one.

He says:

Third—Exponents of socialism agree that the wealth of the nation should be divided equally among the individuals of the nation."

No socialist advocates the above. Our desire is this: "That which the people socially use to maintain existence, they should socially own." Not equality of wealth, but equality of opportunity.

He says:

Fourth—"Labor does not produce all wealth."

Labor, mental and physical, produces all wealth. All leading economists agree upon this. Great minds cannot produce wealth alone; labor is needed. Labor is increased in productivity by the application of great minds. Both are necessary and are inseparable.

He says:

Fifth—"There is no antagonism between capital and labor."

True. But there is an antagonism between the owners of capital and the possessors of labor power. The greater the proportion of the product gained by the laborer, the smaller must be the returns to capital. The two interests are directly opposed.

He says:

Sixth—Labor organizations are in no way allied with socialism."

The address was upon the world-wide socialist movement, consequently this statement is untrue. In nearly all other countries the unions and the Socialist party work in harmony. Especially is this true in Germany. The unions in the United States are being forced into politics by recent supreme court decisions and by the unrestrained use of the injunction.

He says:

Seventh—"The trust is not one of the great causes of socialism."

The trust is a social necessity, and as such should be owned by the collectivity. "Let the nation own the trusts." By curtailing opportunity the trusts have forced the workers to seek an avenue of escape. Socialism alone offers this. In direct proportion to the growth of the trusts is the growth of socialism.

Every indictment brought by the speaker against socialism is already present under existing conditions.

Corrupt politics rule. There is no privacy in the home. The power of wealth is abused. Wire-pulling is used by influential men to gain power.

Father O'Ryan admits these things.

He must also admit that 81 per cent of the working class do not own their homes, and that 3 per cent of home owners are heavily mortgaged. He must admit of the evils of prostitution, of the large number of divorces, of many marriages entered into for financial reasons, of child labor, of unsanitary working conditions in many industries, of shoddy clothing, adulterated food and many other evils.

And his remedy for these existing evils and his plan for preventing the growth of socialism lies in two contradictory things—the religion of the Bible, teaching universal brotherhood, and what he calls "true patriotism," which teaches that man should love the people of one country to the exclusion of those of another.

Brotherhood, knowing no boundaries, and patriotism, hedged in by imaginary lines.

Socialism teaches that "an injury to one is the concern of all," and knowing that no chain is stronger than its weakest link, it seeks the freedom of all.

The socialist flag is red, signifying that the blood of all people is the same.

Their song is "The Marseillaise," with its cry, "Ye sons of toil, awake to glory."

Their motto, known throughout the civilized world, is, "Workers of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains. You have a world to gain."

ANOTHER "I-DARE-YOU-TO-PRINT-IT" CONTRIBUTION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I have been much entertained by the frequency and vehemence with which, in four paper of last Wednesday, you assert that my political opposition to Mr. Brooks is based upon personal feeling. I know there are peculiar men who can never understand how others can oppose them politically without hating them personally. To one in that frame of mind my own statement that these references to me, both in your editorial and news columns, are false, might not carry its due weight, so I will submit the following testimony from Mr. Brooks, the original of which is now before me:

House of Representatives, Washington, April 5, 1903.

My Dear Mr. Davis—Yesterday The Gazette of Thursday came to hand with your excellent dispatch on the mint amendments.

I am under added obligations for your kindness in (the) matter.

The attention was of material value to me, and is correspondingly appreciated.

Again thanking you most heartily, I am,

Very truly yours,

F. E. BROOKS.

To Oscar King Davis, Esq., Press Gallery.

You also say of me: "It is pure evasion and subterfuge on the part of Mr. Davis to cite the vote upon passage (of the statehood bill), which was of no consequence after the passage of the rule."

That is, it was of no consequence to defeat the bill, after effort to amend it had failed.

It was the late Sam Fessenden who said to Joe Manley, when Manley, who was heading the Reed forces in the 1892 pre-convention campaign, surrendered to Harrison before the convention met:

"Joe, God Almighty hates a quitter."

He might have added, "and a poor loser, too."

Today's Horoscope

Saturday, March 28, 1903.

Calm shines the day, but without signs to guide. Be heedful. Move in courses true and tried.

The 88th day, moon's age 26 days.

A quiet, uneventful day opens with this period, and the signs remain neutral, though placid, during the 24 hours. No reasonable plan need be negatived, nor need any except hazards be postponed.

There is no clear indication, however, to guide the way. It is a day for prudence and great caution in judgment and word.

Take heed this day in stepping on anything that moves, whether elevator, car or obstruction.

A ready tongue and an alert mind will captivate the woman whose birthdate this is. She must be heedful this twelvemonth. The unmarried will be wooed in a strange place.

The man with this birthdate will lose money in a lawsuit or lose promotion or even position through a complication that can be avoided if passion is suppressed in judging a complicated situation.

The girl born this day will reach after a high ideal. She will be inclined to lack of neatness in dress.

The boy born today will be headstrong and quick in temper, qualities which will injure what otherwise will be a great success in his career.

THE FARMERS' RESERVES.

From the Baltimore Sun.

The bulletin of the Department of Agriculture seems to show that farms on March 1 held a small proportion of their wheat, corn and oat crops than at the same date last year and less than the average of 10 years. They have sold largely, but still have a reserve available. Of their wheat they have 23.5 per cent on hand; of corn, 37.4 per cent; of oats, 35.5 per cent. The buying power of the farming interest is a factor upon which our economists rely largely to give elasticity to the market after the recent depression.

HOW MINERAL DEPOSITS AFFECT POPULATION.

Prof. A. G. Keller in Harper's Magazine.

The history of American mining towns presents many examples of the determining effect of mineral deposits. Butte, Mont., is a city of 62,000 inhabitants, supported by copper underlying about one square mile of land surface. The metal forms the sole raison d'etre of this considerable settlement, for in other respects the region is unattractive and unattractive; without the mines the locality would support with difficulty a population of 100 souls. The mineral deposits of Nevada occur beneath strips of land a few hundred feet in width and in the midst of a homeless desert, but they have formed plausible pretext for adding a state to the Union and two senators to Congress. The decline of the lodes has now reduced Virginia City to a population of 2,500, as against 11,000 in 1880 when it was one of the busiest cities in America, in the midst of a superlatively "booming" state. In 1900 Nevada was credited with a population of 42,335—a figure somewhat under that for 1870; thus this state, with an area twice that of New England, has less population than Waterbury, Conn. Through the existence of mineral products in close proximity, Pittsburg has become the emporium for coal, petroleum, and iron; but case differs, however, from the above, for its development was far less artificial and its decline could never be that of the regions already mentioned. These possible rivers converging at this point, unless sunk in a canal, provide natural routes for approaching railways. Natural and unnatural access, it may be added, are contrasted at Pittsburg by the fact that one railroad has recently been forced to expend $25,000,000 to effect an entrance to the city by overcoming a minor geographic obstacle.

AN ENTHUSIAST.

"I'm very fond of literature,"
Said Maggie MacGazeen,
"Although I scarcely can endure
The dullness in between.

The picture pages where they tell
Of things that people have to sell
And how it's safest to insure—
I'm very fond of literature.

"I love to read of things they'll send
For monthly payments small;
The home conveniences that lend
A helping hand to all;
The pipes and patent razors, too,
Though not for me, with joy I view
Along with tales of food that's pure—
I really dote on literature.

Schaeffer Home Pianos

If a piano is to have a place in the affections of a family, its music needs have sterling worth.

It must have received the affectionate touch and care of a master piano maker if it is to fill the place in the household which a good piano deserves.

And so it is that there are very few pianos of any but the most expensive makes which really satisfy.

Schaeffer Pianos Satisfy

Among the many customers to whom we have sold Schaeffer pianos, there are few who have not been instrumental in getting their friends to buy Schaeffers also. This is strong evidence in itself, but in addition, we have found that those who bought Schaeffer Squares thirty years ago, are now demanding the Schaeffer when they choose an upright.

This is conclusive, and we speak from our own full confidence, and from the fullest confidence of the thirty-five thousand owners of Schaeffer pianos all over the world, when we offer THE SCHAEFFER AS THE SOLUTION OF YOUR PROBLEM—AN IDEAL HOME PIANO AT A MODERATE PRICE.

YOUNG MAN WALKS UP PEAK

Finds Snow Scarce and Has but Little Difficulty.

Tales of terrible exposure and of struggles in snowdrifts in a reported attempt of a party of 11 to ascend to the summit of Pikes Peak are scoffed at by C. Hazlehurst of 619 North Tejon street. Mr. Hazlehurst, a young Philadelphia man who has been in Colorado Springs for several months, walked to the summit of the Peak on Friday, March 20, making the trip alone from Manitou in four hours and 50 minutes.

"From Manitou as far up the Cog road as Windy point, the track was clear," he said. "No snow was encountered until after I had passed Windy point, where I found it six feet deep, but covered with such a hard crust that walking was not difficult. For the last 1,000 feet there was practically no snow, it having been blown off the summit of the mountain. On the very summit there were only small patches in sheltered places under rocks. I experienced no excessive exposure."

WYOMING OFFICIALS PLEASED

Willing to Pay Higher Rate for Care of Its Children.

Governor B. B. Brooks of Wyoming and the board of charities and reforms of Wyoming have completed their tour of inspection of Colorado's reform and industrial institutions, highly pleased with the conditions and with the care that is taken of the wards from Wyoming.

One of the reasons for the annual visit was the recent increase on the part of Colorado in the price of board charged Wyoming for the children from that state. The latter state has no reform institutions, so it sends its wards to Colorado for care. Up to January 1 their board was $16.50 a month. Since then Colorado has raised the price to $20. There are 17 Wyoming boys at the Golden school, five at the deaf and blind school in this city and two girls in the House of the Good Shepherd.

BRIDE-TO-BE TOO YOUNG

So Young Man Must Produce Legal Papers From Her Mother.

That "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip" was demonstrated again yesterday when Alfred E. Difford, a young man of some 20 odd summers, from Cripple Creek, appeared at the county clerk's office and asked for a marriage license. Everything went all right and he answered all the questions satisfactorily until it came to the age of the bride. She was not yet 18.

He produced a statement from the girl's mother, but it was not made out in legal form. Accordingly the marriage license stub was left half-filled, and the young man went away with promises to return within a day or two with the necessary documents.

The bride-to-be, Miss Olive S. Comfort, has come all the way from Tecumseh, Mich., to become Mrs. Difford, and the couple do not intend to be balked by any of the technicalities of the law.

TROUBLE AMONG THE JONESES

Justice Ruby Will Settle It—Court Room Resembles a Bargain Counter.

Justice Ruby's court room yesterday resembled a second chance day. A hall had been scratched through by a crowd of women intent upon securing bargains. Piled on the table was a large assortment of lace curtains, neatly embroidered doilies, table covers, sideboard scarfs, pillows, children's clothing and a souvenir spoon, the whole appraised at $1.65.

The dry goods had been confiscated by Constable W. F. Larrabee, because of certain troubles between the two Jones families, who reside at 225 North Wahsatch street. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jones, who had formerly lived at this address, recently went to Milwaukee, storing their household goods, and renting a part of the house to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones—no relation by the way. While H. B. Jones and family were absent, the other Jones family piled into the household goods stored away and helped itself, it would appear, to whatever of dry goods and the like it wanted. This resulted in the issuance of a search warrant on the part of the Joneses in Milwaukee. Some of the goods was found in possession of the C. Joneses. They were brought into court. First the charge was grand larceny, but later this was changed to petit larceny, and it is to this charge that the C. Jones family will have to answer this morning.

SILVER DOLLAR IS DOOMED

Paper Money Will Take Place of Coin to Large Extent.

According to local bankers, the doom of the silver dollar as a circulating medium in the west was sounded in the order issued Thursday by George B. Cortelyou, secretary of the treasury, announcing that the government would no longer pay the express on shipments of moneys of that description. The government has paid these charges for 25 years, but the fund appropriated for paying transportation charges on silver dollars has been exhausted.

A silver dollar has been a scarce article for a long time in the eastern cities, but the west has been fairly well supplied with the coin of that denomination.

Local bankers have had considerable trouble lately in getting any shipment of silver dollars whatever from the east on account of their scarcity and now that the cost of express is to be added it is expected that the supply will stop altogether. The local bankers do not anticipate its disappearance from circulation at once, however, as there is already enough in use to keep a liberal supply here for a long time.

The ruling of the treasury department does not apply to the half dollars and smaller coins and there will be no shortage in those denominations.

SPRING VACATION IS HERE

College and Public Schools to Be Closed a Week.

Vacation days are here. Throughout the city public schools, as well as at Colorado College, next week will be observed as the annual spring vacation. In the public schools, books were laid aside yesterday afternoon and studies will not be resumed until a week from Monday.

At Colorado College and Cutler Academy, the vacation period begins at noon today and lasts until Tuesday morning, April 7. Already the campus has has lost a large proportion of its students who have left for their homes in various parts of the state.

Mrs. Willard C. Brown of Leadville, will spend next week with Mrs. Caroline M. Clancy, 226 East Cimarron street. She is on her way home from California, where she spent the winter.

Dr. R. W. Reasoner returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip to Morrisonville, Ill., his former home. He was called there by the illness of his son, Barkley, who is now recovering from typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jackson, son and mother of Cedar Rapids, Ia., are spending a few days in this city with Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Osmeus. They are on their way home from California, where they have been spending part of the winter.

To spend the spring vacation visiting state educational institutions at Fort Collins, Boulder and Greeley, Miss Margaret Morgan, teacher at the eighth grade of the Garfield school, left for the northern part of the state last evening.

The small boy who has been in the habit of wandering away from home after dark had better take warning, for the big policeman is after him. Beginning tonight at 9 o'clock [illegible] will be [illegible] to police headquarters.

The curfew order was issued yesterday by Chief of Police Reynolds and he will see to it that this law, which has not been rigidly enforced for some time, is put into strict enforcement from that time on. From March 1 to September 1 the curfew will be rung at 9 o'clock, while during the winter months it will strike at 8 o'clock. The law orders that no person under the age of [illegible] on the streets after the ringing of the curfew.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS FILED

S. G. Hayes and J. S. Quillen Seek to Recover Money.

Alleging that the company did not live out its contract in regard to the cultivation of sugar beets on his farm in El Paso county, S. G. Hayes yesterday filed suit in the district court against the Holly Construction company, the Holly Sugar company and C. F. Evans and K. Grunwald, for $1,500. He declares that in 1906 the two men, representatives of the companies, signed a contract for the cultivation of 50 acres in sugar beets, agreeing to furnish skilled Japanese labor. He declares that they failed to carry out their part of the contract and then on the failure of the crop, refused to make good his loss.

Another damage suit was filed in the county court in which J. S. Quillen asks $250 from Charles B. Thompson. He declares that Thompson has refused to carry out his part of a trade of the Jersey dairy for certain real estate.

TO RESUME OPERATIONS

Big Power Company Will Give Work to Hundreds of Men.

Following the announcement made some weeks ago the Central Colorado Power company, controlled by Curtis & Hine of this city, will resume operations on all of its outside work at an early date. Owing to the closing of the Knickerbocker Trust company in New York city last fall, much of the development work under way by the company was temporarily suspended. The reopening of the doors of this big concern will afford considerable relief to the Central Colorado Power company, as there was half a million dollars of the company's funds tied up in the bank.

Now that this money is again available, the various development propositions of the company in different parts of the state will be pushed vigorously, giving work to several hundred men.

MUST ANSWER GRAVE CHARGE

Mrs. Ellen Recker Says William Knuth Tried to Kill Her With Rifle.

William Knuth, a rancher who deals with his horses, cattle, dogs and other livestock in a bore near Calhan, is visiting at the county jail. He was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Ellen Recker, who charges that he threatened to shoot her. She filed complaints to this effect in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday, and Knuth will be given a hearing next Tuesday morning.

During dispute arising over the location of some of Mrs. Recker's cattle on a piece of land which Knuth claims to be his, the man began shooting at Mrs. Recker, it is alleged, firing three shots, none of which hit the mark. Trouble of this nature has, she declares, been going on for the last several years, and having grown tired of being a target, she has called in the officers of the law to her assistance.

Knuth was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harry T. Allward on Thursday, after a wild automobile ride to Calhan, the report having come to the sheriff's office that an insane man was running amuck and "shooting up the town." Dr. H. L. Richardson, immediately after the man's arrest, investigated his mental condition and declared him to be of sound mind.

The investigation that was made by Deputy Allward revealed a startling condition of living. The man has one room in his stable, reached only by passing through the manger. Here is his bed, covered with rags, and a small cook stove. The man himself was dressed in the most ragged clothing. He has lived in that part of the country for the last 25 years, being about 50 years old. He owns 160 acres, and is a bachelor.

What the Press Agents Say

"THE DISTRICT LEADER."

"The District Leader," the musical comedy with a melodramatic story, is to hold the stage of the Opera House next Monday evening and that it is to be well received has already been shown by the heavy demand for seats. The piece is by Joseph E. Howard, who has recently given to the stage more big successes than any other contemporary. "The Land of Nod," "The Time, the Place and the Girl" and "The Umpire" are the work of this clever playwright. The bright particular star of "The District Leader" is Miss Ethel Dovey, whose clever work in "The Land of Nod" is well remembered. She has been supplied with an ideal part in this latest piece and has been given several songs that fit her childish personality to a nicety. The chorus in "The District Leader" is said to be so attractive that the stage-door "Johnnies" are sure to be much in evidence.

The success of "The District Leader" has preceded it. It is a well-written story, with plenty of catchy musical numbers and pretty show girls, so that it might rightly be called a musical comedy. Joseph E. Howard is the author and composer. Mr. Howard is also responsible for "The Land of Nod," "The Umpire," "The Time, the Place and the Girl," and other very successful productions.

It is a drama embellished with music. It has the master touch of pathos, and comedy that makes one go home singing. It might well be called a musical play "with a reason," that is to say, the musical numbers dovetail into the plot and fit the situations, an uncommon thing in present day musical productions.

Y. M. C. A. STAR COURSE TONIGHT.

One of the most entertaining numbers of the Y. M. C. A. Star course will be given tonight at the Opera House. At that time the Dunbar Handbell ringers and male quartet will appear. Everywhere they have gone they have met with success. Regarding them says:

Evansville (Ind.) Courier—An all-star cast. Ralph Dunbar plays cello with skill and expression. Entertainment was uniformly good. The Y. M. C. A. made a wise choice when it se-

HEART STOPPED; HE LIVES

From the New York American.

For nine days the 3-year-old son of Elias Margolias of 156 Rivington street has been in a state of complete coma, and the physicians called to treat the child are baffled.

On one occasion the baby's temperature was 106½ degrees and his heart stopped beating. The chances are, however, that he will recover, but probably will never regain full use of his mind.

Scarlet fever attacked the boy a week ago last Thursday. When he remained unconscious for two days medical men said there was no hope. Sunday he was kept alive with strychnine.

There was a slight improvement on Tuesday, and it was noticed that the reflex senses were active. Since then there has been no change.

Dr. Diamond said yesterday that this was the only case on record where fever coma of such duration had not resulted in death.

THE HABITANT ON FRENCH.

From Scribner's.

"Where does monsieur come from?" asked Jean.

"From New York—"

"New York? Why, I did not know that French was spoken in New York."

"No," I explained, "but I learned my French in Paris."

"Paris? Where is that?"

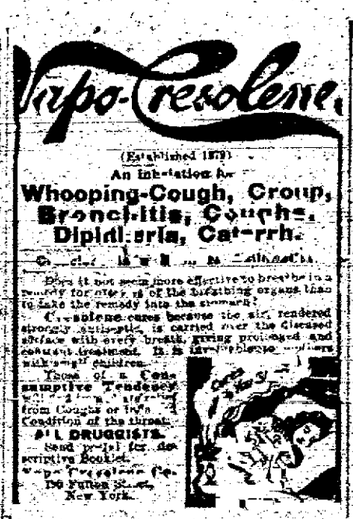
I explained once more that Paris was a city in the great country of France.

"Oh! yes, France. I have heard of that. Well!" he said, decidedly, "it is not good French, that Paris French!" Then, evidently with the kindly intent of softening the blow, he added: "However, I can understand you."

GIVEN UP TO DIE.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. Lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured. Why not let it help you? For sale by all dealers.

Although court plaster is useful in protecting small scratches or abrasions of the skin from harm, it should not be used over any considerable cut or wound in process of healing. This will heal much faster if simply covered with a bit of soft linen, held in place at the ends with strips of surgeon's plaster.



Vapo-Cresolene
(Established 1879)
An Inhalation for
Whooping-Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Coughs, Diphtheria, Catarrh.
Does it not seem more effective to breathe a remedy for diseases of the breathing organs than to take the remedy into the stomach?
Cresolene cures because the air, rendered strongly antiseptic, is carried over the diseased surfaces with every breath, giving prolonged and constant treatment. It is invaluable to mothers with young children.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

Subjects Under Discussion by the Journals of the Land.

From the New York Sun.

Paraphobic delusion is getting so common that the friends of Mr. Bryan, the well known and popular lecturer, have reason to be alarmed about him now that he seems to be possessed by the devil of militarism after preaching against it and exorcising it for 10 years. He is talking about "my regiment" and recalling the perilous days when he faced the yawning camera in Florida.

As a colonel Mr. Bryan was not glorious, though he seems to have forgotten it. Doubtless if Mr. McKinley could have been persuaded to imperil that precious life and Mr. Bryan and his fiery, untamed legion could have marched into the bowels of Cuba and the hell of war, he might have developed into a thunderbolt of fight and clattered uphill while all the world wondered and Ate and Eris and other unpleasant female terrors grinned exultingly and horribly. But, like the rest of Mr. Bryan's ambitions, this might have been. Mr. Bryan was no fitter for war than Lady Jane; and in the hands of men entirely great the pen is mightier than the sword. Mr. Bryan is at his ease when he spouts of the blessings of peace; and when he rings with the horror of war, hardfaced and sowbelly rise in the throat of memory. No, we can't all do everything, and Mr. Bryan must be content with being a moral hero. He was no martialist, no matter how frequently he was photographed in his pomp of war, and he is too Jeffersonian, too averse to satraps and aristocrats, to be a successful disciplinarian or commander. It can be said to the credit of his consistency that he was as ignorant of the business of a colonel when he resigned amid the good-natured guffaws of the country as on the day when he first put uniform on his comfortable person. His regiment was the joy of the army. The Nebraska polemarch, it is said, would sit on a bunk's edge and swap stories or "talk politics" with the privates of his command, a noble example of a tribune of the people communing with the same, but not conducive to discipline.

It is no reflection upon the Peerless that he was not a "hero," or that, unlike the godlike conqueror of Cuba and the votes of his countrymen, he is not Hannibal, Turenne, Marlborough, Prince Eugene, Napoleon and Miles Gloriosus (serve hor). But why does the former colonel recall his unfortunate military experience and begin to boast in the familiar "my regiment" manner of the most melodramatic of monomaniacs? Mr. Bryan is finding that, his are Mr. Roosevelt's policies. This military renaissance of his suggests the dark thought that he is beginning to believe he is, or was in 1898, Mr. Roosevelt, so George IV, to mention another ample person, believed to the day of his death that he led a charge at Waterloo.

A frowning brow often indicates a shrinking head.

DREW TING AT ANGEL.

From the New York Sun.

One of Jerome's chief assistants has a young son who occupies almost as much of his time as does the office business. "Just now," said the prosecutor, "I divide my leisure daylight between the menagerie in Central park and the Bronx zoo. While I always try to grant any reasonable request, there are times when I give up. The other day he wanted a lion, and I produced one. Then a monkey, and I lugged him into the monkey house. The next demand was for an angel, and I quit. And I couldn't explain that in my business I wouldn't know an angel if I saw one.

For 3,000 years the Hindoo standard of living has been almost the same for rich and poor. The rajah's floors are bare, and the rich man washes in the open air and dries himself in the sun like his poorer brother.

Woman's Watchword Is Modesty

Whatever threatens woman's delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits disease of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which most physicians think necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty.

Any sick woman may write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters of consultation being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Such consultation costs you nothing whether you take treatment from Dr. Pierce or not.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as a "God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. It enables women suffering from "female weakness," prolapsus uteri, retroversion, antiversion, and other displacements of the organs distinctly feminine, to cure themselves right in the privacy of their homes. Pelvic catarrhal drains, painful or irregular periods, backache, frequent headaches, weak nerves, dragging-down pain or distress in the lower abdominal or pelvic region, gnawing sensation in stomach, dizziness, or faint spells, and kindred conditions and symptoms are cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is not a secret or patent medicine, against the use of which most people of intelligence naturally object, but is, in fact, the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and experienced physician in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments and who is not afraid to publish all its ingredients, as he does, on its bottle-wrapper, attesting the correctness of the same under oath.

"Favorite Prescription" is the one medicine for woman's delicate ailments which contains neither alcohol nor harmful, habit-forming drugs, being a pure glyceric extract of curative principles found in our most valuable native, medicinal roots, as attested by many of the most eminent medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this PROVEN REMEDY OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are effected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty cents in stamps [illegible] Dr. R. V. Pierce, [illegible] Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will be sent to you by return mail. Most druggists keep it as well as "Golden Medical Discovery."

DRIFTING ON BIG VEIN

Operators on Arequa Townsite Hopeful of Good Returns.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 27.—Lambright, Husted and Ecton, operating on the Arequa townsite in Arequa gulch, which belongs to the Beacon and Raven Hill Gold Mining company, are now drifting on a big vein at a depth of 400 feet to cut a junction. The ore is of low, milling grade. There are 23 acres in the tract and the prospects are considered quite good.

The Little Nell Gold Mining company, adjoining the Arequa townsite, is doing considerable development work at a depth of 300 feet. This company has also opened up a good-sized vein and is getting intermittent assays. There is any quantity of low-grade ore, but as values are getting better as development work progresses, the management is hopeful that a good grade of ore will shortly be encountered.

ORE RUNS $51 TO TON

Messrs. Love and Day Secure Good Returns From Morning Glory.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 27.—Love and Day, who took a lease on a portion of the Morning Glory property of the Work company on Raven hill a short time ago, have found considerable ore. The last shipment sent out by these operators gave returns of over $51 in gold to the ton. They have knocked down several old pillars, and have opened up a good sized vein which will give returns of two ounces or better. These lessees are pushing operations and will be able to ship from four to five cars of ore a month.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 27.—Dan Weyand has secured a 30-day prospecting privilege on the Trachyte, which adjoins the Shurtloff, Findley and other well known bull ship producers. Mr. Weyand has a bond and lease providing he concludes to operate the property, which he is now prospecting in a thorough manner. The bond calls for several thousand dollars, but the exact figures are not made public.

ELKTON OUTPUT LARGE

TONNAGE HAS BEEN GREATLY INCREASED.

Thousands of Tons of Low-Grade Ore Being Shipped to U. S. R. & R. Plant.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 27.—The Elkton mine, on Raven hill, one of the richest and steadiest producers in the Cripple Creek camp, is now maintaining a heavier tonnage by some 200 tons every month than it has for several years past. This company is shipping out a large quantity of low-grade or milling ore, which has been made possible by the extremely low freight and treatment charges which is inaugurated during February by the United States Reduction and Refining company. The Elkton company had alleged this low-grade to remain in the mine, but it is now shipping between 1,500 and 2,000 tons per month to the U. S. R. & R. company. Previously the Elkton company maintained a tonnage of from 1,200 to 1,500 tons every 30 days.

The management has announced that with the surplus now in the treasury and the ore now blocked out and in sight, the company will be able to maintain its present payment of dividends, and with a very strong likelihood of an increase for the next three years, even though not another pound of ore should be found. The Elkton company is now paying dividends at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

The company was never in better physical or financial condition. Ore is being mined on the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth levels, and the veins are strong and of good dimensions. The El Paso drainage tunnel has now drained this property to the ninth level and development work has been started. There is every reason to believe that splendid ore will be encountered on the 900-foot level. The El Paso drainage tunnel is draining this section at the rate of 1,100 gallons of water per minute, which is from one-half to two-thirds less than it was a year or two ago.

The Elkton company last year paid out $185,000 in dividends, and this sum will be equaled this year, if not surpassed, as the company management is seriously considering the advisability of increasing the dividend rate to 7 or 8 per cent per annum.

Probably the best vein and the one that is producing the best grade of ore, is the one which is known as the Hemby vein, which is found south and east of the main working shaft some little distance, and at a depth of approximately 800 feet.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Business Stimulated by Advanced Weather—Gradual Increase in Contracts in Industries.

NEW YORK, March 27. R. G. Dun's Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Retail trade in spring goods has made further progress and the conservative buying by dealers in preparing for currency distribution is now proving a good supplementary demand from wholesale and jobbing houses. Unusually advanced weather in many sections stimulates business and agricultural work is making an early start. In the leading industries there is evidence of gradual increase in contracts, many plants preparing for greater activity on April 1, while proposed reductions in wages have produced no threats of strikes.

The best news of the week as to manufacturing conditions comes from the leather industry; although shipments of footwear through Boston are only about two-thirds of the same week last year. Dispatches from west and south are most favorable as to the general commercial situation, a few cities reporting the volume of business fully equal to last year's and these statements are supported by bank exchange at these points about the same as in 1907. There still is complaint regarding mercantile collections, although improvement is noted. There is a better feeling in the hide market, prices advancing in several instances, especially hides suitable for sole leather.

THIS IS WORTH REMEMBERING.

WHEAT MARKET WEAK

VOLUME OF TRADING IS UNUSUALLY SMALL.

Weather Situation in the Southwest Ruling Influence. Corn Market Weak—Oats Easy.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The wheat market was weak all day, and the volume of trade was small. Some selling at the opening was caused by liberal shipments from Argentina, but during the greater part of the day the market was affected chiefly by the weather situation in the southwest. The weather bureau forecasted rain or snow for Missouri and Nebraska tonight, but no moisture was predicted for Kansas. Private advices, however, claimed that rain had fallen today in several sections of that state. A slack demand for cash wheat was an addition al bearish factor. The market closed weak. May opened ⅞ to 1 lower at 91⅞, declined to 91⅛@⅜ and closed at 91⅜. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 260,000 bushels. Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreet's, were equal to 2,288,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 2,000 bushels, against 1,000,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,000 cars, against 280 last week and a holiday last year.

The corn market was confined to a weak all day on selling by pit traders. The weakness of wheat had a depressing effect. The close was weak and near the lowest point. May opened a shade to ⅛ lower at 60¾@¾, to 60⅝, sold off to 60⅜ and closed at 60⅜. Local receipts were 176 cars, with six of contract grade.

Oats were easy, owing to the weakness of wheat and corn. May opened unchanged to a shade lower, at 54@54⅛, to 54⅛, advanced to 54⅜ and then declined to 54⅛, where it closed. Local receipts were 88 cars.

A 5c advance in the price of live hogs caused a strong and active market for provisions. The market closed strong with May pork up 5c at $13.42½; lard was 10c higher at $7.27½; ribs were 5c higher at $7.05.

TRADERS ARE CONFUSED

PRICES MOVE CONTINUOUSLY IN STOCK MARKET.

Action of Union Pacific, Announcing an Approaching Bond Issue, Has Important Influence.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Prices moved continuously in today's stock market, but the course changed so often as to leave speculative sentiment thoroughly confused. In one important stock would be discerned signs believed to point to distribution going on, while in another appearances would indicate careful manipulation for the purpose of securing stock as cheaply as possible, pointing to accumulation. The action of Union Pacific had an important influence on the whole list by sympathy. The bad impression created by yesterday's announcement of a coming bond issue seemed to pass away after a period of early depression. Banking officials credited with the financing intimated that the first reports of dimensions of the immediate proposed issue had been exaggerated. Stories were thereupon revived of the imminence of the plan for segregation of Union Pacific investments for distribution to stockholders. The stock turned strong again and carried the whole market with it.

The heavy tone of U. S. Steel in the early dealings weighed on the whole market and the source of selling was made cause for suspicion and for rumors of distribution by important inside interests. The copper securities had the advantage of another rise in the price of the metal here and abroad and reports from London of an improvement in the general market condition for the metal. Reports regarding conferences over wage conditions in the soft coal trade varied widely as they came from different districts and this may have accounted for some confusion in the price movement of soft coal carriers.

Compilations of weekly currency movement showed that the accumulation of cash here was going on uninterruptedly. With the large payments made to the subtreasury on account of return of government deposits the gain of $2,733,000 made by that institution at the expense of the banks was amply explained. Receipts on balance from the interior by express have been on so liberal a scale as evidently to outweigh this drain and establish a cash gain of probably between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. It is not supposed that the United States treasury will be able to avoid further calls upon depositories as the current deficit in the revenues necessitates the paying out of its available cash balance. These payments in excess of the current income, however, obviously operate to return sums to the channels of the money market and restore the amounts drawn from the government deposits. The government's operations, in fact, are not interfering with the growing ease of the money conditions. The easing of our money rate while foreign money markets show some occasional stiffness, was not correlated to the day's maximum foreign exchange rates. The strong banking forecast helped the local stock market and the earlier uncertainty was largely discarded in a vigorous upbidding of prices to a strong closing.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,472,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

ALWAYS LEAP YEAR?

Woman Says They Always Propose, but Don't Know.

From the New York Herald.

"That women may propose in leap year is the usually quoted rule, but as a matter of fact, women don't propose then any more or any less than during any other year, for they usually do the proposing, no matter how many days there are in February."

This remark was made by a woman in the Waldorf-Astoria on last Friday at the close of a club meeting, who expressed her opinions freely, but insisted that she be not quoted.

"Men may think that they do the proposing," she continued, "and they do, so far as the formal words are concerned, but the woman has planned and arranged for that proposal long in advance, and has done all that was necessary to lead up to it. It is never 'so sudden' as she makes out.

"Women invite men to propose, and it is perfectly proper that they should do so if their affection prompts it. The fact is, men are often more delicate in love affairs than women. All of you married women have experienced that. They will make the most gentle advances and be ever so sensitive to the response, no matter what it may be. If they are encouraged they proceed, and if they are put they back away gracefully. A woman is quite keen in seeing when a man begins to love her and after that she does the rest.

"Women don't stop for leap year or wait for leap year, for they are the same every year and encourage a man's love when they want it, and though they don't tell him in words to propose they tell him in language that he cannot misunderstand."

Guesswork

Less than twenty years ago eyesight testing was largely a matter of guesswork. Years of experiment and study have resulted in methods and instruments that enable the competent optician of today to accurately measure and correct any visual defect of the human eye. Thus knowing the lens to use and its effect, we can conscientiously guarantee our glasses to give satisfactory results.
